

The old tree was a tree that wanted to walk.

One night in February, the old tree was able to walk around the city.

People in the city woke up with the scandal that there was an elephant going around.

But nobody imagined what a tree had done.