

THE CHORUS

PLOT

- A musician who failed in his music career, Clement Mathieu arrives to a very strict boys' boarding school, in 1949. The tough headmaster Racine rules over the delinquent youth with his motto of "Action-Reaction." Mr. Mathieu tries a different approach, introducing music into their lives, forming a boys' choir that allows the teacher to discover the secret musical talents of a quiet but troubled young boy, not to mention his beautiful single mother.

CHARACTERS

- Pepinot(Maxence Perrin): He was a boy who thinks her mom is going to pick him up everyday. As he doesn't know how to sing, he becomes the assistant of Mathieu.
- Clement Mathieu (Gerard Jugnot) : He was the "music teacher", he finds the way to get the best out of his students, which helps him to form a chorus even though some students were hiperactive.
- Pierre(Jean-Baptiste Maunier): He was an introvert student, he had a very good voice so Pierre had a solo in the important audition.

CHARACTERS

- Rachin (Francois Berleand) : He's the director and he is very cruel, as he punishes students very hardly.
- La Père Maxence(Jean Paul Bonnaire) : He's an assistant in the school and he was so nice with the students.
- Violette Morhange(Marie Bunel): Violette is Pierre's mom. Clement falls in love with her.

MY OPINION

- I think this movie shows us that everybody has special abilities, even though sometimes we don't see them, and it also shows us that when we have the support of the people we love everything is possible.
