I want ...

I want a better country, I told myself in a dream, quite funny.

I really can't stand this society.

I want to get rid of the few same political parties.

I want to see my comrades changing this comedy.

I want to stop seeing my beloved in agony.

I don't want to see my country incredibly stationary while those in power make a living with their agony.

I want you people to do something in front of this nonsense comedy.

I want you to know you're the seed of change, obviously.

I want you to wake up your anger immediately.

I want you to be fighting constantly.

they can't talk us about peace showing us weapons.

they can't give us freedom and tell us when to use it.

I want to think that someday this dream becomes a reality.

I really want you to think it too and make it probably.

while those in power laugh, we suffer in agony.

do it for those who have suffered in silence but manifest shouting.
