

The duck, the lion and the spider

Once upon a time there were a duck and a lion. They were sad because they were hungry but the lion found food in the woods.

While they were eating a spider arrived. She wanted to be their friend and she was also hungry. Suddenly a rabbit came and wanted to eat the spider. The spider ran away happily and the rabbit couldn't eat it. As the rabbit was tired he stopped looking for the spider and went away.

The spider came back and became friends with the lion and the duck. While the animals were eating, there was an earthquake. It caused the animals to separate into two different groups. They tried to get food but fell down and suddenly appeared in a magic world.

In this magic world they met a penguin who told them that they would have to go on a mission in order to leave this magic world. They found the first clue under the tree of life. It was to dance salsa on top of a dragon. They went to find the dragon and they wanted to become friends with him but the dragon didn't agree and he ate them.

Inside the dragon, they danced salsa. They tickled the dragon and he needed to cough. When the dragon coughed the animals came out. Suddenly they saw an owl called Hedwic who had the next clue. The next clue was written in a paper: "You need to go to a lake and swim deep down to find the mermaid who will give you the next clue".

So the three animals swam to the depths of the lake and found the mermaid combing her hair with a herringbone. The mermaid welcomed them "I was waiting for you". The mermaid told them "You are very brave and you have come so far because you helped each other. If you want to go home you have to sing a song to the King of the Lake. If the King likes the song, you will go home, but if he doesn't like the song you will stay here».

So, the duck, the lion and the spider went to the King's Castle. When they were in the King's Castle they found the King and he said "If you don't sing you will stay here forever". So the animals started to sing the "Five little monkeys" song. The King was very entertained so they sang another song. Luckily, they could go back to the woods and finally finish eating their food.

