A child's drawing on white paper. In the top left, a yellow bee is drawn with two large black eyes and a black mouth. To its right are three simple, cloud-like shapes drawn with black outlines. In the center, two large, bright blue shapes are drawn, resembling rabbit ears. Below these, a large black shape with yellow spots and a red mouth is drawn, representing a rabbit. To the left of the rabbit, a green, cone-shaped shape is drawn, possibly representing a tree or a bush. At the bottom, there are several green, grass-like shapes drawn with vertical lines. The drawing is simple and colorful, typical of a child's artwork.
