Days of Confinement

These days we are confined at home because there is a very contagious virus, the coronavirus. We can't go to school or meet our friends, we have to stay at home.

The days are very long and boring.

The positive of this situation is that people do activities they couldn't do before: read all the books they didn't have time to read, watch TV shows they didn't finish, cook (the ones who like it). Since we can't go outside people do exercise at home or in the garden.

Adults do teleworking and children have online classes.

This virus is affecting all the world; it originated in China before it travelled to different countries.

When we can go out again, we will go back to school or high school, restaurants, shops, meet with friends, walk in the mountains, travel... But it will never be the same, people will be more careful.
