Writing Activity.

Write a catching up letter or email to a friend you haven't seen since lockdown started. Tell them what you have done during the last weeks. You can tell them what your new routines are, about the online activities from school, the hobbies you have done, the sports you have practiced, the video games you have played...

You should try to use the Present Perfect, and write between 100 and 150 words.

What is a "catching up letter"? To "Catch up" is what you do when you meet someone you haven't seen for a long time and you tell each other what you have done since you last saw each other, especially important or relevant things. A "Catching up letter" would be doing that but in writing, and sending it to someone you haven't talked to for a long time.
