Animals escape from the Barcelona zoo

Yesterday afternoon, several animals escaped from the Barcelona zoo, causing concern among visitors and nearby residents. The animals that escaped are elephants, lions, a giraffe, and chimpanzees. The zoo staff said the escape happened around 3PM, because of a problem with the security system in some of the animal enclosures. Luckily, no people were hurt during the incident. When visitors saw the animals outside their cages, many were surprised and a little scared. "I saw lions walking near the main path. It was very unexpected", said one visitor. The police quickly closed the roads near the zoo to keep people safe while the zoo workers tried to find and catch the animals. The zoo team used special sedant darts to capture the animals without hurting them. After several hours, all the animals were safely returned to their enclosures.

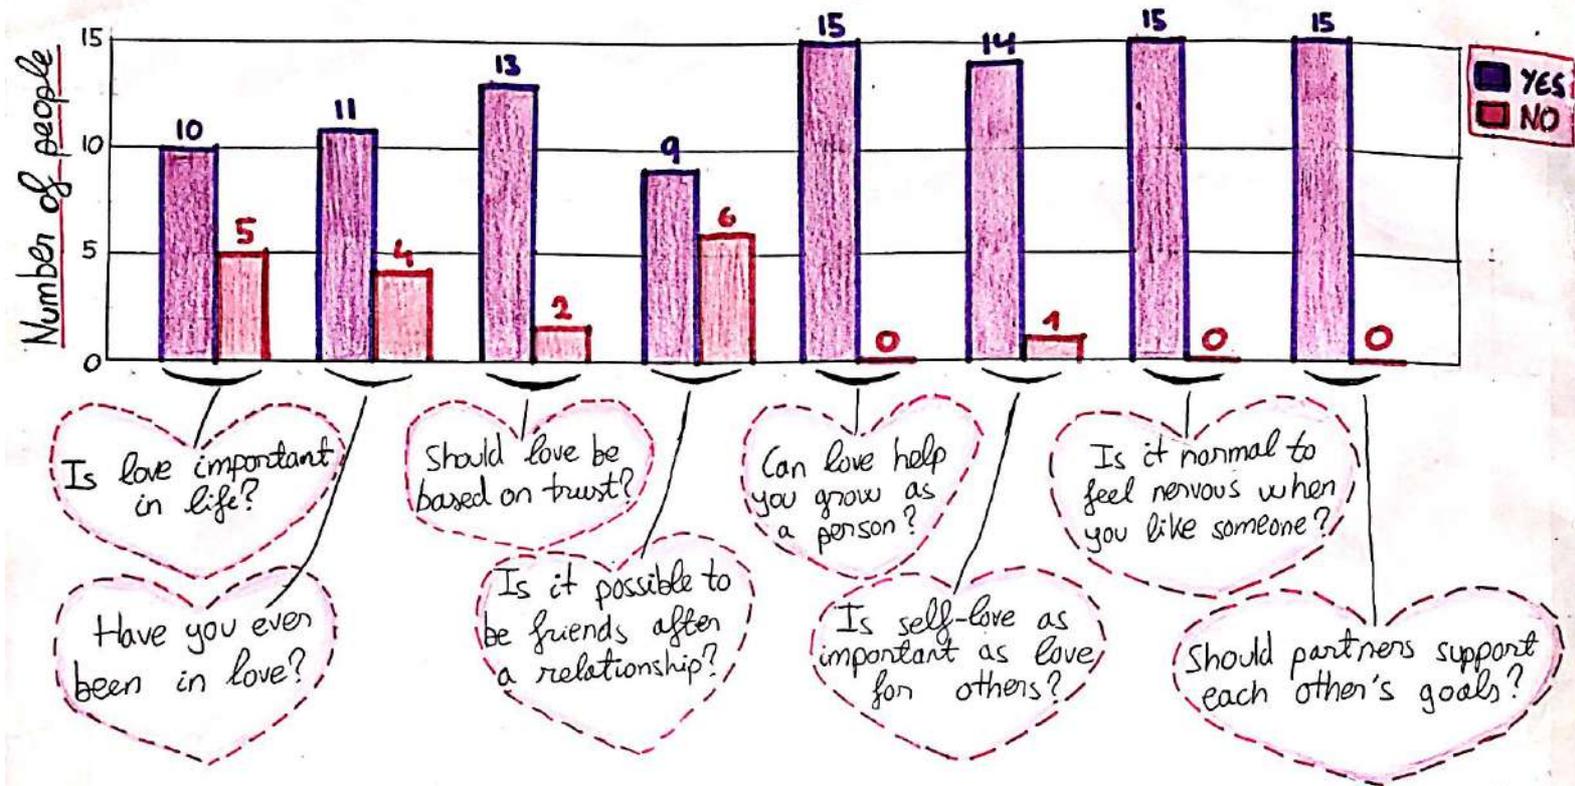

Veterinarians checked the animals and said they were healthy and not injured. The zoo apologized for the problem and said they are working to fix the security systems to make sure this does not happen again. The Barcelona zoo will be closed for a few days while the repairs are made. Visitors are asked to be patient and understanding. This escape shows how important it is to keep animals safe and secure. The zoo promises to improve it's safety measures in the future.

More news will come as the situation develops.

Shooting at Texas Mall

On Sunday afternoon, there was a shooting at a big mall in Texas. Many people were shopping. A man had a gun and started to shoot. People were very scared. They ran and hid inside the stores.

The police came fast. They stopped the man and took him to jail. One person was hurt and went to the hospital, the police said the man is now in custody. They are asking him questions.

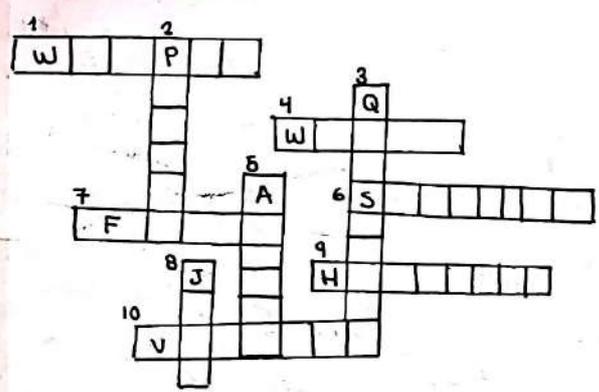

A woman at the mall said, "I was with my children. We were very scared. We hid in a bathroom."

The mall is now closed. It will open again next week. Many people are still afraid.

The mayor said, "We are working to make the city safe. This cannot happen again."

People in the town are helping each other. Some are bringing food and water to families. The community is strong and wants peace.

"I most enjoy motivating my students"

Interview with Juanma

1. Did you always want to be a teacher? No, I only studied biology and did other things, like coaching basketball. I realized I enjoyed interacting with young people.
2. What do you enjoy most about teaching Biology? What I enjoy the most is when I manage to motivate and inspire my students through what I teach.
3. If you weren't a biology teacher, what would you have done instead? A travel guide.
4. What advice would you give a student who wants to pursue Biology? You need to have an open mind, understand that you'll need to get a master's degree and choose a profession you enjoy.
5. How did you meet your wife? I met her because she was a teacher at Rafael Casanova school.
6. Would you like your children to follow in your footsteps? As long as they study something they love, that's what matters. It should help them feel fulfilled as people.
7. What kind of music do you usually listen to? Do you have a favorite song? I really like guitar-based music. Some of my favorite artists are Fito & Fitipaldis and Coldplay. I enjoy pop and rock genres.
8. What did you do in your free time when you were our age? I played basketball and coached young kids. Later, in high school, I worked while I studied. I also liked drawing and doing crafts.
9. If you could be any living creature for a day, which one would you choose and why? I'd love to be an eagle because it can fly, I'd like to feel that sensation of being in the sky.
10. Would you recommend being a teacher in general? Yes. If you have an open mind and enjoy being around young people. But if you don't like that, then no.
11. What would you say to your teenage self if you could? I'd tell myself to be more daring and live more. To be a little more irresponsible, in the sense of enjoying my time and youth.
