

Hello, we are four fourth-year ESO students from La Pobla, El Morell and Vilallonga and among all of us we are doing a technology and informatics project for the Technovation Girls Challenge. We are Carmen Cendra, Paula Fortuny, Samara Nuñez and Elizabeth Padrell, and we are working together with the Open University of Catalonia (UOC), and we are creating an application called Together.

Together is an app developed by students whose achievement is to solve some teens' doubts and possibly some problems like bullying.

The app contains different screens that provide you information about these main themes: bullying, self-harm, and sexual doubts. It also brings you the opportunity to keep in touch with people who are in a similar situation to yours, or people that want to help you willingly or just hope to share with you some of their doubts. Also for people who want to report everything and help others.

This application will be published at the end of April but it is not sure, we will give more information through social networks @teens.together .
